This resource guide was developed by the Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center’s Jay Weiss Institute for Health Equity (JWI). This is the 4th edition. Prior editions were printed in 2008, 2011 and 2015.

The directory is designed to provide information about resources for people seeking information about health and social services in Miami-Dade and Broward counties. Although the focus of the JWI is cancer, this guide includes information about other health and social services. Many organizations offer services in Spanish and Haitian Creole. The guide is a starting point for addressing a broad range of health and social issues at a glance. We hope that you will find it useful.

The goal of the JWI is to make meaningful progress towards health equity through outreach, community partnerships, research, advocacy, and training. The JWI consists of three inter-related areas: community outreach, research, and training. In all areas, we collaborate with community partners who offer critical insight regarding risk conditions affecting health and healthcare utilization.

Information was obtained from various sources, including the Internet, and from recommendations from our community partners. Every effort has been made to ensure accuracy of the content at the time of publication. If you notice errors or misinformation, please contact the JWI (see inside cover page). Inclusion in this guide does not imply endorsement or approval of programs or services. Neither the University of Miami Miller School Of Medicine nor the Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center are responsible or liable for the services or activities provided by organizations and agencies listed.
